Springtime beckons!

As the days start to get longer, and it won't be long before the clocks go forward, many of us will be looking forward to some outdoor photography, weather permitting!

At this time of year many of us are fed up being couped up inside and can't wait to get out into nature to record it's wonders.

But have you ever dashed out with a camera but wondered what to point it at once you're there.

In this digital age anyone looking for inspiration as to how to capture "Spring" images need only look to the many websites on the internet which show other photographs on Spring, or many other topics, for that matter.

Amongst the subjects which are out there are of course the flowers and trees and birds, but there are many more things which will be worthy subject. But don't forget to wrap up if you go out early – March can still be quite chilly in the mornings!

As well as nature waking up, and with an early Easter this year, there will be many events taking place. A look through the local newspaper can often help here, and there will be such things as re-enactments at Basing House too (April), and many sports start again at this time.

One more thought.-

To keep our Springtime

as it is for future generations, consider becoming a "green" photographer. Digital photography has already helped the planet by taking many chemicals out of the waste we produce as photographers. Every little helps!

Focus On Imaging 2008

It seems a number of members visited the NEC to go to Focus last week. This annual event is often a magnet for club photographers, although really aimed at the professional photographic industry.

Nonetheless there is so much of interest that it's almost a requirement to visit if you are to keep up with the many developments, that's if you have the energy to get round all the stands in the day!

There were several free demos and lectures on new computer programmes, mainly for plug-ins for Photoshop /Elements, and also some really good advice on studio flash use given by experts.

These were, of course, mostly sales pitches, but in effect it was free advice, and was keenly listened to intently by many.

There were several retailers selling at discounts, so it can be very tempting to spend more than you planned, but some excellent bargains were to be had.

Looking forward to next year already!

Wyn's Wanderings

The 14th March will be remembered for a very successful showing of our Exhibition. A very good attendance by members who entered digital images. and by the comments of the President of Winchester Photographic Society added to the evening.

I can only thank once again all those who helped to make this a very good evening and to Steve for the brilliant job he did, both with the entries and for the showing.

On the 21st Geoff Roberts gave a very interesting informal evening, and to part with so much information about his business was revealing. He does enjoy working hard, and if he works about 40 hours for each wedding, how does he get time for any commercial work?

We have had some excellent days for photography during February, and after getting away for a few days, no doubt John and I will bore you with art deco buildings for a long time.

It is still wet along by the rivers, but on a day out to Salisbury in February we walked along the river bank where there is a good path, passed the old mill and onto the path the other side of the river, giving good views across to the Cathedral, which for once, had no scaffolding showing.

A Quick History – 1994/95

A few random reminiscences from 1994/95 for this month's ramblings.

Two evenings during the season - one a competition and the other a lecture - proved to be memorable for different reasons. Firstly, the competition evening. In November, as we were setting up the room for the Cliff Dyble Trophy competition, the 'management' of the Community Centre decided to test the fire alarms in the building. Reassuringly, the bell on the wall of our meeting room burst into life with a deafening clatter.....and rather worryingly then refused to be silenced. Various attempts were made to quell the din without success, until finally a selection of towels from the bar wrapped around the device muted it sufficiently to allow the evening to proceed - but to a background accompaniment which resembled a piece of card being dragged across some bicycle wheel spokes. The faulty lighting tube above the print stand which continually flickered on and off could be disregarded (eventually), but what couldn't be ignored were the swarms of little flies that emerged from the heating grilles around the room and descended into our drinks. Perhaps it was fate that a faulty dispensing system at the bar had filled the beer with gas, meaning that the contents of our glasses were nine-tenths froth and pretty undrinkable anyway.

The other evening of note was in the December, when Bob Moore FRPS FBIPP FIPF APABG BPE5* came down from the Midlands to give us a print lecture. Now back in those days Bob had a bit of a reputation as a somewhat abrasive character and a man who didn't suffer fools gladly.....no, to be honest a man who didn't suffer fools at all.....and as the day of the lecture approached I think we were all a little apprehensive wondering quite what we were in for. However the evening went without a hitch - Bob gave a very entertaining talk and was a great success.

It was back to the Fairfields Art Centre for the 1995 Open Exhibition. Judged by Sylvia Cox FRPS of the Alton CC and the Disabled Photographers' Society, the event turned out to be a fairly low-key affair. Club members winning trophies were Phil McLean, Michael French, Keith Polwin and Brian Burwood.

I mentioned in last month's article how the print and slide panels for the 1993/94 Southern Federation league competitions were made up of work from 11 different club members. 1994/95 saw this taken a stage further as no less than 15 different members represented the club in the SPF leagues. However, all is not as it may seem because, by offering to fill a late vacancy in the league, we actually had two sets of prints and slides 'doing the rounds' throughout the season. This is the only time that I can recall a club having two separate entries in the league, and I am sure that the SPF rules were subsequently tightened up to prevent such situation arising again.

March 1995 saw the first of the "Swanage weekends", which for a number of years were to be something of a highlight of the season for those of us who were fortunate to be able to attend. Club member Mike Hayes had recently retired from the police force and, with his wife Pam, moved to Swanage to become proprietors of the "Bella Vista" hotel. Before embarking on their first summer season, Mike and Pam fine-tuned their hospitality skills by hosting a group of BCC members for the weekend at, it must be said, highly advantageous prices. Friday evening at the Crows Nest pub just around the corner from Bella Vista for a meal and drinks, Saturday at leisure spent wandering the Isle of Purbeck (and further afield for the more adventurous types) in search of some winning pictures followed by dinner at the hotel, and more exploration of the area on Sunday before the homeward journey set the pattern of the weekend.
